SUSTAINABILITY ASSOCIATE CONSULTANT:

Management systems specialist

Role Highlights:

- Freelance role
- Ideal for an experienced consultant with extensive experience in designing, implementing and auditing ISO 14001 management systems
- Experience other management systems is welcome, including ISO 50001 (energy management), ISO 9001 (quality), ISO 45001 (heath and safety) and ISO 27001 (information security).
- Eligible to live and work in the UK

An exciting opportunity for a bright and ambitious freelance consultant to join the team at an award-winning sustainability strategy consultancy

Who we are:

Brite Green is an award-winning sustainability strategy consultancy. We help companies reimagine their business models and practices by embedding sustainability into the way they see the world. From ensuring compliance with legislation to developing new innovative products, we work in partnership with our clients to provide the resource, perspective and expertise to realise competitive advantage through sustainable business practices.

The work we do is wide ranging but we have four main service areas:

- Sustainability strategy: Identifying the critical sustainability issues for companies and incorporating sustainability into business strategy
- Management systems: Designing, implementing and maintaining environmental management systems, including ISO 14001
- Solution implementation: Assessing the options to improve sustainability performance and providing practical support to implement them
- Sustainability reporting: Collecting, analysing and reporting sustainability data for customers

The types of projects we do ranges from one off pieces of analysis through to providing outsourced sustainability management for companies on an ongoing basis.

The type of companies we work with is really varied and includes manufacturers, advertising agencies and professional services companies. We have customers across the UK and US, ranging from medium sized companies to large listed Groups.

We are a small but fast-growing company with big ambitions. We offer services across a wide range of sectors, and resource projects with in-house consultants and consultants from our associate network to ensure we provide clients with the right experience and knowledge.

You can find out more about us and the work we do on our website www.brite-green.co.uk

The role:

We are looking for an ambitious and entrepreneurial specialist consultant to join the associate team. You will be responsible for delivering management system projects, either individually or as part of a wider team.

We operate a matrix structure and so you will be both responsible for both managing project delivery from other team members and delivering work yourself.

You will be:

The successful candidate will have extensive professional experience (preferably in sustainability, either in consultancy or in-house, or in professional services). You will need to hold an undergraduate degree from a leading University (minimum 2i) and post graduate qualification in sustainability or environmental management, or be able to demonstrate commensurate competence. You will also hold a lead auditor qualification is the relevant standard.

You will have particular experience in designing, implementation and auditing management systems. Experience of doing so across a range of sectors and business sizes would be useful but not essential.

You will have an excellent understanding of sustainability in businesses in the UK and internationally and will be adept in using research and analysis to identify ways to improve business practices through enhanced sustainability management. In addition, you will have excellent oral and written communications skills, being able to confidently and articulately convey results, conclusions and recommendations to clients. You will be working on a wide range of clients and projects, and as such you will need to be flexible and respond quickly to the changing project requirements.

You will need to be able to lead projects and project teams effectively, have good interpersonal skills and must be able to work well in a team and independently. You should have a track record of successfully managing teams and clients.

You will enjoy thinking creatively and have an analytical and enquiring mind. You will need to share, debate and critique ideas openly and form strong collaborative relationships with a network of consultants and associates. You will need to get the best out of other members of the team and create a collaborative and productive team ethos.

You must be committed to sustainability and align with our core values of integrity, honesty and responsibility.

You must have the right to live and work in the UK.

You must work well in a small team and be able to adapt to the changing environment of a fast growing consultancy.

What we offer:

We work hard and will expect you to do so too. In return we offer exciting opportunities for you as a valued member of our associate team and we provide competitive remuneration.

As part of a small company you will have a real opportunity to work closely with other members of our team and have a direct impact with clients.

How to apply:

Please send a CV (no more than 2 sides of A4) and a concise covering letter (no more than one side of A4) outlining why you are a suitable candidate to careers@brite-green.co.uk.

If you are successful, you will be invited to an interview and will be asked to provide an example of work or professional writing. Due to the number of applicants we receive, only those who are invited to interview will be contacted.

Equal opportunities:

Brite Green Ltd is committed to creating a diverse working environment and is proud to be an equal opportunity employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration without regard to race, colour, religion, gender, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, national origin, genetics, disability or age.